Introduction:

In the wake of COVID 19 economic fallout, the Indian Government is taking all necessary efforts to provide series of relaxation to the corporate entities to make good of any filing related default and grant immunity from penal proceedings including against the imposition of the penalties for late or delay in filing compliance necessary under the Company Law. That by the circular dated March 24, 2020, the Ministry of Corporate Affairs has introduced a scheme named as “Companies Fresh Start Scheme”. The scheme is intended to provide an onetime opportunity to the Companies registered under Companies Act, 1956 & 2013 (Act), to make good of any filing related defaults, irrespective of the duration of default so to have a “Fresh Start”.

Applicability of the Scheme:

The Scheme shall be in effect from April 1, 2020 to September 30, 2020. It is applicable to all the “Defaulting Companies” defined under the scheme, which defaulted in the filing of any of the documents, statement, return, etc, including annual statutory documents on the MCA-21 registry. The Scheme provides an opportunity to the defaulting companies to enable them to file belated documents in the MCA-21 registry, only on payment of nominal fee, with immunity from launching prosecution or proceedings for imposing a penalty on account of delay associated with the certain filing.

The Scheme also allows the inactive companies[\[1\]](#) to get their companies declared as “dormant companies” under Section 455 of the Act, which enables the inactive companies to remain on the register of the companies with minimal compliance requirements.

Cases of Non-applicability of Scheme:

The Scheme shall not be applicable in the following cases:

Case Briefs >> Interdigital Technology Corporation & Ors. v. Xiaomi Corporation & Ors.

 26 January 2021

Case No.: I.A. No. 8772/2020 in CS(COMM) 295/2020

Date: 03 May, 2021

Court : Delhi High Court

Coram: Hon'ble Mr. Justice C. Hari Shankar

FACTS & PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Interdigital Technology Corporation & Ors. ("Plaintiffs") by way of a civil suit had approached the Hon'ble Delhi High Court ("High Court") alleging an infringement of Standard Essential Patents ("SEPs") by Xiaomi Corporation & Ors. ("Defendants"). As per the Plaintiffs, the Defendants manufacture cellular handsets, compliant with 3G & 4G standards that require, for their operation, the technology contained in the SEPs that is held by the Plaintiffs.

According to the Plaintiffs, given that the SEPs are peculiar in nature, they cannot be monopolized and hence are permitted to be availed by different licensees after obtaining the requisite licenses from the Plaintiffs. Moreover, the rates of the SEPs must be fair, reasonable, and non-discriminatory ("FRAND"). Determination of the FRAND rates on which the Defendants could obtain licenses from the Plaintiffs formed a moot question of the case.

Proceedings before the Wuhan Intermediate People's Court

Prior to the institution of the civil suit before the High Court, the Defendants had approached the Wuhan Intermediate People's Court ("Wuhan Court") for an SEP royalty rate-setting suit. The Defendants had sought the fixation of a global FRAND royalty rate on the basis of which, the Defendants could obtain the license from the Plaintiffs.

However, as summons were served in the civil suit before the High Court, on the very same day, the Defendants filed an anti-suit injunction application before the Wuhan Court seeking a restraint against the Plaintiffs from moving forward in the civil suit before the High Court.

The Present Lis

Being adversely aggrieved by the order of the Wuhan Court granting an anti-suit injunction in favor of the Defendants, the Plaintiffs filed an Interlocutory Application ("IA") before the High Court seeking an injunction against the Defendants, from enforcing against them, the directions issued by the Wuhan Court.[\[1\]](#) In simpler terms, the Plaintiffs sought a peculiar 'anti anti-suit injunction' against the Defendants.
